PA EVIDENTLY A TAILOR.

"Pa, doesn't precipitation mean the same as setting?"
"It does in chemistry, my son; but in business you'll find that many persons in setting don't show any precipitation at all." — Boston Transcript.

A BRIDEGROOM'S CONFESSION.

A bridegroom writes an article entitled, "My Wedding Morning," in which he says that on the morning of his wedding day he was not in the particularly happy frame of mind which most writers on this subject report. Following is an extract from his frank confession:

"Here I was on the verge of realizing the thing that I had wanted most for over a year; and suddenly I found to my utter amazement, that I didn't want it."
"I was disgusted with myself, I berated myself roundly for a cad and a coward, but I could not change the feeling. With the drowning man's panoramic eye I saw all the choicest moments of my bachelor days. I remembered the gay, irresponsible times that my best man and I had had together. That was a pretty good day, after all, that we had led, our old bachelor apartment was a good old place, I thought to myself. And I was leaving it! I had always heard that folks with curly hair were fickle, and had dismissed the saying as idle, superstitious chatter. Now it flashed upon me that my hair is curly; I knew in a terrible instant that the saying was true. My hair was curly! I was fickle; here was the first evidence of it. I was on the edge of my marriage, and I didn't want to marry."
"Suppose the cursed weakness, my fickleness, were to follow me through life. Suppose I were to find that my love was not strong enough. I was forty-five, we would probably be married forty years! Forty years—the thought staggered me."
"People had said that they never knew a man who prized his independence more than I. It came over me now of a sudden that in twelve hours I would no longer have any independence. Tomorrow, for forty years, I would have to make every decision not on the basis of what I wanted to do but of what we wanted to do."
"For forty years, I would never be able to go anywhere, do anything, meet anybody, without a girl on my arm. The sweetest, loveliest girl in the world, to be sure—but still a girl. Tomorrow I would be married, and the day after tomorrow, and world without end—"

ADVICE TO HOUSEWIVES.

The cookery editor writes a page of advice to housewives on the subject of canning June fruits. The jelly-making, canning and preserving time is approaching and the directions given are particularly valuable just now. Following is an extract from the general directions:

"Fruit for canning should be fresh, firm, of good quality and not over-ripe."
"For canning fruit allow one third its weight in sugar, and two and one half to three cups of water to each pound of sugar."
"To Sterilize Jars: Wash jars and fill with cold water. Set in a kettle on a stove and surround with cold water. Heat gradually to the boiling point. Pour from kettle, empty and fill while hot. Let covers stand in hot water five minutes. Dip rubber bands in hot water but do not allow them to stand. Always use new rubbers and see that the covers are in perfect shape."
